BREAKS AEROPLANE AFTER FAKE SEIGE

CAPT. WORDEN ALIGHTS SAFELY
BUT DAMAGES AERIAL SHIP

CAN'T FLY TODAY; TO GIVE EXTRA FLIGHTS

Aviator and Machine Prove Interesting to County Fair Visitors—Drive-
Served in Mexican War.

"The Siege of Liège," which the fair crowd yesterday afternoon observed, was not of a make-believe siege, but one of a real one. For today the Moisant monoplane of Capt. L. H. Worden, which circled and circled above the fort before dropping the bombs which ended the cannonading, lies crippled and forlorn in its tent, while the crowd today will look in vain for the scheduled aeroplane flights.

But though the flights today will be impossible, the delay will be made up with extra flights the remainder of the week, and on Saturday especially Capt. Worden announced today. That the "Siege of Liège" yesterday appeared to be a real one—that really transferred the crowd for the time being to Liège, Belgium—was attested by the exclamations and applause heard throughout the grand stand after the siege.

Broke Aeroplane in Alighting.
The accident to the aeroplane did not come while the bombardment was in progress, but instead came when Capt. Worden alighted.

As he circled down to the ground after the siege, he struck a small ravine and guttered roadway, in order to avoid scaring a group of nudes in the pasture.

As he struck the rough spots the walnut propeller was broken, the two head pieces to the frame crushed and the running gear damaged. The planes stood up under the strain perfectly. All is now repaired except that Capt. Worden has no propeller.

Two are now on the way to Maryville, one from New York, ordered two weeks ago, and another from St. Louis, ordered yesterday, but neither will arrive in time for flights today, Capt. Worden announced.

Aeroplane Weighs But 650 Pounds.
In order to acquaint the fair crowds better with the aeroplane being used here, and also with the driver, it might be mentioned that it is a French Moisant monoplane, which accounts for the trouble in getting repairs for it during the present war.

The two planes are each thirteen feet across, while the elevating plane at the rear is about ten feet long. The frame is principally of bamboo with a fine grade of oiled linen covering.

The Gnome motor or engine which drives the aeroplane is of seventy horse-power and seven cylinders, and can attain a speed of seventy miles an hour for the airplane. Capt. Worden can really go but about sixty miles an hour against the wind, but as much as 120 with it. The propeller is driven at a maximum of 1,300 revolutions a minute.

The machine weighs but 650 pounds, even though equipped and strongly built throughout.

As to Capt. Worden it might be said he has been in the business longer than any American now flying in the United States, for he began five years ago, at the age of 22. His first aviation work was with Madero, Mexican president. He then began individual flying, but last winter joined the British aviation corps in the war in northern France and Belgium. After four months there he returned to this country. Though small and slightly stooped, Capt. Worden has a reckless daring that immediately creates admiration for him and his work.

Ed Irvin of Waterton, S. D., visited today in Maryville with his brother, Eldon W. Irvin.

The Nodaway county fair is now thronged with persons from all parts of Nodaway county, and even other counties in northwest Missouri and southern Iowa. The crowds Monday and yesterday were only fair, but beginning at noon today the trains from each direction brought hundreds of visitors, while every by-way and road leading into Maryville was filled with persons motoring or driving to the county fair.

The record crowd is not expected before tonight or tomorrow, however, by the management, though the attractions today are of the best. All exhibits are now in and the awards in various classes of live stock and agricultural displays are being made today.

The display of Shorthorn cattle which was scheduled for yesterday was combined with the Hereford herds and shown as one today.

The baby show was held soon after 1 o'clock this afternoon and attracted unusual attention. There were several entries and each deserved a prize, for beauty and cuteness, but, of course, it was impossible to award each one.

The poultry breeders of Nodaway county and others attending the fair here celebrated Fried Chicken day at the fair grounds today with a picnic dinner, consisting mainly of fried chicken, and then viewed the fair attractions.

The usual free acts were shown to the crowd this morning and this afternoon, in addition to the extra attractions. Captain J. H. Worden was unable to make any flights today, however, on account of a mishap yesterday afternoon, but will be able to resume his daily flights tomorrow, he announces.

Another big drawing card for tonight is the portrayal of the sinking of the Lusitania by Fearless Blenda in the pyrotechnical display. The audience will then get a good idea of what such a catastrophe means, as well as observe some ingenious skill with fireworks.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Nixon have returned from an extensive western trip during which they visited both the San Diego and San Francisco expositions and other places of interest. They also visited their daughter, the Misses Lena and Selma Nixon, who are teaching at Washington Park, Wash.

BABY SHOW AT FAIR

SARAH LUTH COX AND JOHN C. L. TIS WALLACE THE PRETTIEST.

48 BABIES WERE ENTERED

Second Prize to Lillian Imogene Ditto and Richard Wayne Willie—Prizes Given by Gilliam-Jackson.

Out of forty-eight of the most prettiest, finest and most adorable babies Nodaway county possesses, entered at the baby show at the county fair this afternoon, Sarah Ruth Cox, the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Cox, and John Curtis Wallace, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oma Wallace, were judged to be the prettiest girl and prettiest boy of the bunch.

Not that this was easy to do, to pick two prize winners out of such a bunch of pretty babies, and the judges, Mrs. J. G. Thompson of Bedford, Col., "Bill" Lee of Mexico and Dr. Armstrong, took a long time to decide.

The first prizes were $10 in gold each. The second prize for the prettiest girl baby was won by Lillian Imogene Ditto, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ditto, and the second for the prettiest boy was won by Richard Wayne Willie. Each of these prizes was $5 in gold.

The prize for the best pair of twin girls was won by Mary and Martha Burch and the best pair of twin boys by Woodrow Jennings Clemmons and Wilson Bryan Clemmons. In each of these cases the prizes was $5 in gold.

Twenty boy babies were entered, 23 girls, one pair of twin boys and one pair of twin girls. Because of only the two pair of twins being entered, the special prizes of $10 for the best pair, regardless of sex, was not given.

The prizes paid in gold were all donated by the Gilliam Jackson Trust and Loan company. The babies in all classes entered were limited to over six months and under two years in age.

The show was superintended by Mrs. Ed. G. Orear.

OROZCO DIES IN TEXAS RAID

Famous Mexican General Slain in Battle With U. S. Troops—Was Madero's Chief Aide.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.
El Paso, Texas, Sept. 1.—General Pascual Orozco, prominent military leader in Mexico's many revolutions of the last five years, has been killed in a fight with a posse of American civilians, customs officers and troopers of the Thirteenth United States cavalry, according to government reports received here.

The battle took place in Green river canyon on the High Lonesome mountains in Culberson county, Texas, following a raid on the Dick Love ranch yesterday. Orozco and four companions were pursued from the Sierra Blanca country into the foothills. The last of the band died at dusk.

How desperately they fought was shown by four bullet wounds in the body positively identified, according to reports, as that of the Huerta general.

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 1.—The killing of General Pascual Orozco, hero of the Madero revolution of Mexico, was highly dramatic, according to details received here. The Mexican raider and his men were surrounded in their camp in a canyon between Mag's and Lonesome mountains, a posse of twenty-four composed of troops of the Thirteenth cavalry and custom house officials, having followed them.

After having followed the trail of the Mexicans, the posse found the men behind their horses, which had been hobbled. The members of the posse closed in and a pitched battle followed. All of the Mexicans were killed.

It is believed that Orozco was trying to organize dissension among all factions of Mexicans and invade the border states.

GERMANY TO WARN MERCHANT VESSELS

VON BERNSTORFF ANNOUNCES CONCESSIONS TO UNITED STATES.

IS CONSIDERED GREAT VICTORY FOR AMERICA

Modification of Under-Sea Warfare Follows Long Diplomatic Argument—Cable Case Closed.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.
Washington, Sept. 1.—The German aeroplane principle is the American interpretation of the rules under which her submarines may operate.

German Ambassador Von Bernstorff so inferred to Secretary of State Lansing today that only a matter of reducing the formal agreement to writing remains. Von Bernstorff arrived from New York and immediately visited Secretary Lansing.

He remained but a few minutes, and on leaving considered the submarine issue as a closed incident. He is said to have been directed by his government to notify the United States that hereafter no merchant vessel will be attacked without being warned.

They also will be visited and searched and passengers and crew will be given an opportunity to escape, he said. The details relative to payment of indemnities and the disavowal of the Arabic case were not taken up today but will be discussed later.

It is considered the greatest diplomatic victory of the war for the United States.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Secretary Lansing had asked Ambassador Von Bernstorff to put the assurance in writing that liners will not be sunk without warning. Later Lansing received a letter from Von Bernstorff saying that liners would not be sunk without warning and giving the people time to leave the ship, unless the ship tried to escape or offered resistance. Lansing immediately communicated all of the details to the president.

Announcement.

We are authorized to announce Robert I. Young of Buchanan county, as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Fourth district subject to the primary election to be held August 8, 1916.

It ought to be easy for a motorcycle man to pop-pop the question.

Some friends are like flies. They gather around the sweets in the sunshine of prosperity, but migrate when the bleak days come.

Unless Santa Claus can get the matter straightened out, it looks like we would have to worry through Christmas without the familiar German toys.

Perhaps Mr. Bryan is right. If a man has to be kissed by the admiring voters to whom he talks, the right of suffrage should be extended to the ladies.

If too much is eaten it tends to cause nervous irritability and to make men mentally inert and stupid. Cooked meat, say scientists, is not easily digested, and when too much is eaten the blood stream is poisoned by the decomposing animal food in the alimentary canal. Therefore, eat only enough to spur the mind and not to deaden it. In other words, be temperate.

any enlargement of the army or navy on a big scale. The navy is very good as it is and the addition of a fleet of submarines and a few battle cruisers, all of which may be produced for the cost of one battleship, the navy will be on an excellent footing. The United States does not want a large standing army but it does need a reserve army and a national militia. It needs most of all a larger enrollment at West Point or another military training school for the training and education of officers. These things are merely defense precautions and involve no great expense.

Increased expenditures are not probable under the present conditions of the United States treasury. The lack of imports from the countries at war have so reduced the receipts from tariff duties that it is likely that increased temporary taxes may be levied. It is not wise to temper with the tariff law. The Underwood law was scientifically constructed to meet normal conditions and there is every reason to believe that it will meet every promise made for it when normal conditions are resumed. In the meantime, it is probable that the scope of the income tax may be increased and that a higher tax may be levied upon beer and whiskey. During the last congress there was a strong movement to levy tax on gasoline and this may be done at the next session.

But, unless we are on the very threshold of war, the big navy and big army men are doomed to disappointment already. The United States wants adequate protection and no more.

HORSES SHOW WELL

MANY SAW FIRST DISPLAY OF THOROUGHBREDS AT FAIR.

APPLAUD TRICK EQUINE

Rooster, Owned by J. H. Tapp, Smithville, Waltzed and Fancy Stepped—Many Entered for Tonight.

It was a fine turn out at the first of the three night horse shows held last night in front of the grand stand at the county fair grounds. And it was a fine showing of fine horses that the immense audience present was enabled to view. The opinion in this regard was unanimous. Even the old horse-men, used to seeing fine displays of "hoos flesh," admitted that the showing last night was above the average for a county fair, by a long ways.

But the horse show tonight and the final one tomorrow night will be still better, the management claims, for there will be more entries, and consequently a more determined effort on the part of the horse owners, to show their steeds to the best possible advantage.

The judging is being done by William Lee of Mexico, Mo., an expert on the judging of horses.

The first class of the horses shown to the equine fans last night was in the walk, trot and canter, for which there were seven entries. The first prize went to Hutton & Everett of Smithville, who won on the fine appearance of Princess McDonald, a bay saddle mare.

The second prize went to Col. J. H. Tapp of Smithville, on Jimmy Gilmore, a 2-year-old saddle stallion. The third prize went to Colonel R. G. Mun-dy of Lathrop, with Betty B., a registered 3-year-old saddle horse. Judge Lee said this was one of the best groups of this class he had ever seen in a county fair.

In the second class for light harness teams there were five entries. The awards were: First, Don Riley, St. Joseph, with Jean Bogle and Dan Hur; second, Mr. Chambers, Bolckow, with Jane and Grace; third, J. H. Trapp, Smithville, with Rex King and Rooster.

While Mr. Tapp's horses didn't show up so well, the tricks of Rooster were very good and drew forth the generous applause of the audience. Rooster, who is a small bay horse, does all kinds of steps and latest dances.

In the third class of five-gaited saddle horses, the awards were: First, Hutton and Everett, Smithville, with Princess McDonald; second, J. H. Tapp, with Rooster McDonald; third, A. G. Harris, Pattonburg, with Molly McDonald.

OTHER FARMERS PLEASE COPY.

M. E. Metaker, living two miles southwest of Skidmore, is a German and proud of it. And what is more he is a progressive one, and likewise proud of it, though he doesn't brag about it. His neighbors do that.

Metaker also thinks a lot of his wife, whose name by the way, also happens now to be Metaker. He didn't like to see his wife bent over the wash tub hour after hour, so set to thinking.

Result was, a separate house was built right over the well, which stands near the house. In that he placed a washing machine, also a wringer, likewise a cream separator. But here is the best of all, at least for Mrs. Metaker.

He also bought a gasoline engine, placed that also in the out-house, and now that gas engine runs the washing machine, the wringer and the cream separator while Mrs. Metaker reads the latest fashion magazines or studies the cook book, to make an extra fine meal for hubby.

Best Definition of "Home."

At a recent meeting of the Mothers' Circle the members took for their afternoon study the reading of the seven best definitions of "Home," will be given as the prize winners in the contest started last winter by the Pictorial Review. The one winning the first prize, $250, was the Bathgate Study club (the contest was limited to women's clubs) of Bathgate, N. D., and the following is a part of the prize winning definition:

"Home is the index of civilization. Some words there are in our English speech so big with meaning, so rich in suggestion, so golden with poetry that they will not be defined. Home to each of us is too full of meaning to be limited by any statement of mere attributes. It rings with magic echoes and to our inner sense means rest, content, sympathy, love and service. Through all our years the content of the word has grown richer, through all the ages the thing itself has grown more sacred.

Long ago in the history of the race, before the institution of the family, there must have existed some temporary shelter, some familiar spot, that was rest to the primitive woman, some protective nest woven by mother ingenuity for the primitive child. For home has always in its truest and best sense meant a place for the nurture and the care of the young, and the idea of home always centers about the relation of parent and child.

So homes grew up, founded on the institutions of marriage and the family and with their prime function, the rearing and education of the child. But this is not their only service. The adult needs a home to be his lodestar in the perplexities, his haven in the buffeting of modern life. Then, too, in our lopsided and imperfect lives, it, too, often comes about that there are empty homes where no children have come, desolate homes founded on curious or accidental relationships—and these, too, may be real homes.

For a true home is something other than a mere dwelling place, something further even than the habitat of a family group. Home is a beautiful atmosphere of cheer and rest and content and mutual service. To it the individual brings the best that is in him, and from it in return he receives the most unselfish joy. Here he may expand and relax, here he is most wholly himself, here he comes again to be in tune with himself and in tune with God.

For home reacts on its creators. Into its making, a man or woman, commonplace enough to outward seeming, may put an energy almost superhuman, a devotion almost sublime; this toll and sacrifice sweetens home and hallow it, and bring forth the good fruits of sound living.

The home has ever been the cradle and the chief instrument of progress. Every advance in the standard of material living and in the thought and culture of the race is germinated and reflected there. The progress or decay of a people can be measured by its home life. It is significant of the new brotherhood, the new sensitiveness to civic responsibility, that we can no longer be true to the family in the best sense without taking thought for our neighbor's safety—that we cannot live for ourselves alone.

CANNING COMPOUNDS DANGEROUS.

Housewives Warned That Use of Preserving Powders Is Harmful and Useless.

Information has come to the department of agriculture that the canning season has brought the usual demand on the part of housewives for salicylic acid and boric acid. These preparations are sometimes sold in the form of powder under various trade names and are recommended by the promoters for use in preserving canned goods in home canning.

In the directions for use the housewife is told to fill the jar with the fruit or vegetables, cover with water, and add a teaspoonful of the preserving powder. While it is true that these compounds may retard the decay of the fruit or vegetable, it is pointed out by the experts of the department that their use may be attended by serious disturbances of health.

Salicylic acid is well known as a poisonous substance, and one of the evils which may accompany its use is derangement of the digestion. It is therefore plain that its extensive use in food may lead to disturbance of digestion and health.

The Federal Food and Drugs Act prohibits the use of harmful preservatives in foods that enter interstate commerce. The food law of nearly every state in the union forbids the sale with in the state of foods that have been preserved with harmful substances. Neither the federal or state food laws apply to foods that are canned in the home and consumed there.

It would seem, however, that the housewife would not knowingly use, in the foods she provides for her family, substances that she could not use in foods for sale without violating the law, because these substances are injurious to health.

Fruits and vegetables can be kept indefinitely if they are sterilized by heat and properly sealed, and there is no excuse in the opinion of the experts of the department, for running any risk by using preserving powders, which may be injurious to health. The use of such powders in addition to the possible injury to health encourages uncleanly or careless work in canning. Reliance is placed in the efficacy of the preserving compound instead of upon cleanliness and heat.

TEXTILE DISPLAY ATTRACTS

Remarkable Exhibit of Needlework Is Admired by Everyone—Is Double That of Last Year.

The most attractive spot at the county fair, not only for the women but for many of the men, is the upper floor of Floral hall, where the textile exhibits are shown. Needle work of a beauty and skill unmatched by professionals is shown and the display more than doubles in quantity that of last year.

The work shown, in many cases is of a class to call forth not only admiration, but wonder that such exquisite articles could be fashioned. The display includes every class of needlework and embroidery.

To the right of the east entrance is the display entered by the Penelope club. Many busy hours have been devoted to this work and the exhibits certainly demonstrates that a woman's embroidery club can do more than have "gab-fests" when they meet for afternoon teas.

Another attractive exhibit is that of the elderly ladies' work. In this department some of the most remarkable pieces are done by women past eighty years. Mrs. A. D. Tindall, Mrs. Mary Clinkenbeard, and Mrs. Mary Hahn, each have displayed pieces of work of the most perfect kind. Two knitted bed spreads made by Mrs. Hahn were done after she was 83 years old and she is still making pretty things.

In direct contrast to this is some extra fine tatting displayed by little Ora May Condon, the daughter of Mrs. B. E. Condon of West Second street.

Miss Ruth Davis has on display a waist, hand-made and trimmed in fine crochet, which is greatly admired by everyone for its perfect work. Miss Bessie McGottigan, living north of Maryville has perhaps the most beautiful work ever displayed by a young woman of her age. The pieces include various kinds of embroidery, crochet and lace work of the most intricate and beautiful designs.

Mrs. Charles McNeal has shown a lunch set, embroidered in blue crane designs, a beautiful piece of work, which is not entered for a special premium but only for display with the Penelope club work.

The judging is being done today, the judges in this department being Mrs. M. A. Peery, Mrs. A. A. Loet of Bedford, Mrs. L. C. Gann, Miss Bettie Turner, Mrs. J. S. Shinabargar, Mrs. Melissa Casteel, Miss Bertha Beal, Mrs. M. Nuabum and Mrs. Will Montgomery.

SPECIAL FAVORS TO TENNESSEE CANNERS

Amendment to Child Labor Law Passed This Year.

NEED FOR A FEDERAL LAW.

An effort made in New York last winter to grant canneries special favors by permitting them to work their operatives longer hours was strongly condemned by the press throughout the country, and the attempt failed. But no attention was paid to Tennessee when she did the same thing at about the same time. In fact, the National Child Labor Committee regards the Tennessee amendment as far more serious than the New York one would have been since the change in the New York law would not have affected any children under sixteen, while the Tennessee amendment permits children under fourteen to work in canneries and for unlimited hours per day.

"It is strange how many states fail to realize that children are more valuable than fruits and vegetables," said Owen R. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, in commenting on Tennessee's action. "The idea is so common that canning goods is more important than protecting children that we find not only Tennessee, but Delaware, Maryland, Indiana, Maine and Virginia, making special exemptions to their child labor laws for the benefit of canneries, while Mississippi does not regulate them at all. I do not know why the idea should prevail that employment in canneries cannot possibly be harmful to children when the conditions there are usually worse than in factories."

"We feel that the only successful way to meet the cannery situation is through the federal law which will be introduced in the next congress and which, if passed, would prohibit the shipment outside the state of canned goods which children under fourteen had helped to manufacture or on which they had worked more than eight hours a day. A letter came to us the other day from a woman who wished to know what variety of canned goods she could buy and feel sure that no children had worked on it. We could not tell her, but we did tell her that if she would help us in passing a federal law she could buy any kind of canned goods with safety."

MESSENGER SERVICE A "CRIME FACTORY."

So Lewis W. Hine Tells Child Labor Conference.

"Crime factory" is the term which an investigator for the National Child Labor Committee made use of in describing the evils of the messenger service at the Eleventh Annual Conference on Child Labor. This man, Lewis W. Hine, believes that there is not a messenger boy of any experience who does not know more about the underworld than the average citizen, because one very common phase of messenger work is the serving of prostitutes by carrying messages, running errands and procuring dope. Investigations of the night messenger service during the past five years in cities representing every section of the country

THE PRODUCT OF THE "CRIME FACTORY" have failed to reveal a single night messenger whose work had not brought him into personal contact with vice.

The chances of promotion in the messenger service were summed up by one boy as follows: "Nothing to it unless you are the right kind of guy. You can get to be a check boy or a file clerk after being in the service a year or two if you stick to it, but ordinarily nobody wants to stick. . . . There is nothing to do when we're not on call. You can go into the office and sit down and loaf, or you can go outside and stand up and loaf. In our office the manager never cared what became of you as long as you were within calling distance."

The attitude of other employers toward the boy who has worked as a messenger was brought out last winter by Miss Anne Davis of Chicago at a hearing on the proposed Illinois child labor law, which included a twenty-one year limit for night messengers. "Employers tell me," said Miss Davis, "they always specify that a boy shall not have worked as a messenger when they employ him."

500 CHILDREN TO WAIT ON YOU

Much That You Wear and Eat Passes Through Their Hands.

EXHIBIT VISITOR IS AMAZED.

"Why should I be interested in the working child?" asked a self-complacent lady who called at the child labor exhibit in San Francisco the other day.

"Because it touches you at so many points," replied the National Child Labor Committee's exhibit director, Lewis W. Hine. "To begin with, the flowers on your hat were undoubtedly made in a New York tenement, no matter what you paid for them. I have found four-year-old children working on such flowers."

"The real imported Irish point lace you have on your collar was probably made by Italians on the east side of

A SEVEN-YEAR-OLD OYSTER SHUCKER WHO CAN NEITHER READ NOR WRITE.

New York. Your gloves and the buttons on your dress probably passed through the hands of children. The scalloped edge around your underwear was made by children in New England village homes, and your stockings represent the labor of children from eight years of age up.

"The cotton that goes into the cloth you use may have been picked by children of five or six and was handled by innumerable children in the course of manufacture. A spool of cotton thread represents the work of from five to twenty-five children."

"As you pass on to the market to buy your food a small boy waits on you. He represents not only your local child labor problem, but indirectly the problem of the little girl who picked your cranberries and your strawberries. Even the baskets that the berries come in represent the work of children. The oysters that you have sent home from the shop were very likely dredged by boys from eight to ten up to young manhood. Some were shucked by little ones of seven or eight. The sardines you eat may have come from the coast of Maine, where children do much of the cutting and canning. Canned peas represent child labor in sorting, picking and canning."

"The coal you burn at home and the glassware you use probably passed through the hands of children. The drugs delivered to you are often brought by a boy who may have come to your house direct from the red light district. The little newsboy, the 'shines' boys, the boy who sets up pins in the bowling alley and the young usher at the movie all need your protection."

The lady gasped and begged Mr. Hine to stop. "Well," he said, "if I went into it EXHAUSTIVELY I think I could find that about 500 children had contributed to your comfort in one way or another."

GIVE NICKNAMES TO BOMBS.

Allies Have the "Hairbrush" and the "Cricket Ball."

London.—The various kinds of bombs now used in France and Flanders are described by an English officer in a letter from the front. There are, he says, four main types: the "hairbrush," the "cricket ball," the "police-man's club" and the "jam tin." Bomb throwers are known in trench slang as "bomb-throwers."

"The hairbrush," explains the writer, "is very like the ordinary hairbrush, except that the bristles are replaced by a solid block of high explosive. The policeman's truncheon has any streamers of tape tied to its tail to insure that it falls to the ground nose downward. Both these bombs explode on impact, and it is inadvisable to knock them against anything—say the back of the trench—when throwing them."

"The cricket ball works by a time fuse. The removal of a certain pin releases a spring, which lights an internal fuse timed to explode the bomb in five seconds. You take the bomb in your right hand, remove the pin and cast the thing madly from you. The jam tin variety appeals more particularly to the sportsman, as the element of chance enters largely into its successful use. It is timed to explode about ten seconds after the lighting of the fuse. It is, therefore, unwise to throw it too soon, as there would be ample time for your opponent to pick it up and throw it back. On the other hand, if the fuse is uncertain in its action and is given to short cuts."

BREAKS AEROPLANE
AFTER FAKE SEIGECAPT. WORDEN ALIGHTS SAFELY
BUT DAMAGES AERIAL SHIPCAN'T FLY TODAY; TO GIVE EXTRA FLIGHTSAviator and Machine Prove Interesting to County Fair Visitors—Driver
Served in Mexican War.

"The Siege of Liege," which the fair crowd yesterday afternoon observed, proved to be less of a make-believe siege than one would suppose. For today the Moisant monoplane of Capt. T. H. Worden, which circled and circled above the fort before dropping the bombs which ended the cannonading, was crippled and forlorn in its test, while the crowd today will look in vain for the scheduled aeroplane flights.

But though the flights today will be impossible, the delay will be made up with extra flights the remainder of the week, and on Saturday especially Capt. Worden announced today. That the "Siege of Liege" yesterday appeared to be a real one—that really transferred the crowd for the time being to Liege, Belgium—was attested by the exclamations and applause heard throughout the grand stand after the siege.

Broke Aeroplane in Alighting.

The accident to the aeroplane did not come while the bombardment was in progress, but instead came when Capt. Worden alighted.

As he circled down to the ground after the siege, he struck a small ravine and guttered roadway, in order to avoid scaring a group of nudes in the pasture.

As he struck the rough spots the walnut propeller was broken, the two head pieces to the frame crushed and the running gear damaged. The planes stood up under the strain perfectly. All is now repaired except that Capt. Worden has no propeller.

Two are now on the way to Maryville, one from New York, ordered two weeks ago, and another from St. Louis, ordered yesterday, but neither will arrive in time for flights today, Capt. Worden announced.

Aeroplane Weighs But 650 Pounds.

In order to acquaint the fair crowds better with the aeroplane being used here, and also with the driver, it might be mentioned that it is a French Moisant monoplane, which accounts for the trouble in getting repairs for it during the present war.

The two planes are each thirteen feet across, while the elevating plane at the rear is about ten feet long. The frame is principally of bamboo with a fine grade of oiled linen covering.

The Gnome motor or engine which drives the aeroplane is of seventy horse-power and seven cylinders, and can attain a speed of seventy miles an hour for the airship. Capt. Worden can really go but about sixty miles an hour against the wind, but as much as 110 with it. The propeller is driven at a maximum of 1,300 revolutions a minute.

The machine weighs but 650 pounds, even though equipped and strongly built throughout.

As to Capt. Worden it might be said he has been in the business longer than any American now flying in the United States, for he began five years ago, at the age of 23. His first aviation work was with Madero, Mexican president. He then began individual flying, but last winter joined the British aviation corps in the war in northern France and Belgium. After four months there he returned to this country. Though small and slightly stooped, Capt. Worden has a reckless daring that immediately creates admiration for him and his work.

The Nodaway county fair is now thronged with persons from all parts of Nodaway county, and even other counties in northwest Missouri and southern Iowa. The crowds Monday and yesterday were only fair, but beginning at noon today the trains from each direction brought hundreds of visitors, while every by-way and road leading into Maryville was filled with persons motoring or driving to the county fair.

The record crowd is not expected before tonight or tomorrow, however, by the management, though the attractions today are of the best. All exhibits are now in and the awards in various classes of live stock and agricultural displays are being made today.

The display of Shorthorn cattle which was scheduled for yesterday was combined with the Hereford herds and shown as one today.

The baby show was held soon after 1 o'clock this afternoon and attracted unusual attention. There were several entries and each deserved a prize, for beauty and cuteness, but, of course, it was impossible to award each one.

The poultry breeders of Nodaway county and others attending the fair here celebrated Fried Chicken day at the fair grounds today with a picnic dinner, consisting mainly of fried chicken, and then viewed the fair attractions.

The usual free acts were shown to the crowd this morning and this afternoon, in addition to the extra attractions. Captain J. H. Worden was unable to make any flights today, however, on account of a mash up yesterday afternoon, but will be able to resume his daily flights tomorrow, he announces.

Another big drawing card for tonight is the portrayal of the sinking of the Lusitania by Fearless Blondin in the pyrotechnical display. The audience will then get a good idea of what such a catastrophe means, as well as observe some ingenious skill with fireworks.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Nixon have returned from an extensive western trip during which they visited both the San Diego and San Francisco expositions and other places of interest. They also visited their daughters, the Misses Lena and Selma Nixon, who are teaching at Washington Park, Wash.

BABY SHOW AT FAIR

SARAH LUTH COX AND JOHN C. TIS WALLACE THE PRETTIEST.

48 BABIES WERE ENTERED

Second Prize to Lillian Imogene Ditto and Richard Wayne Willie—Prizes Given by Gillam-Jackson.

Out of forty-eight of the most prettiest, finest and most adorable babies Nodaway county possesses, entered at the baby show at the county fair this afternoon, Sarah Ruth Cox, the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Cox, and John Curtis Wallace, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oma Wallace, were judged to be the prettiest girl and prettiest boy of the bunch.

Not that this was easy to do, to pick two prize winners out of such a bunch of pretty babies, and the judges, Mrs. J. G. Thompson of Bedford, Col., "Bill" Lee of Mexico and Dr. Armstrong, took a long time to decide.

The first prizes were $10 in gold each. The second prize for the prettiest girl baby was won by Lillian Imogene Ditto, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ditto, and the second for the prettiest boy was won by Richard Wayne Willie. Each of these prizes was $5 in gold.

The prize for the best pair of twin girls was won by Mary and Martha Burch and the best pair of twin boys by Woodrow Jennings Clemmons and Wilson Bryan Clemmons. In each of these cases the prizes were $5 in gold.

Twenty boy babies were entered, 23 girls, one pair of twin boys and one pair of twin girls. Because of only the two pair of twins being entered, the special prizes of $10 for the best pair, regardless of sex, was not given.

The prizes paid in gold were all donated by the Gillam Jackson Trust and Loan company. The babies in all classes entered were limited to over six months and under two years in age.

The show was superintended by Mrs. Ed. G. Orear.

OROZCO DIES IN TEXAS RAID

Famous Mexican General Slain in Battle With U. S. Troops—Was Madero's Chief Aide.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 1.—General Pascual Orozco, prominent military leader in Mexico's many revolutions of the last five years, has been killed in a fight with a posse of American civilians, customs officers and troopers of the Thirtieth United States cavalry, according to government reports received here.

The battle took place in Green river canyon on the High Lonesome mountains in Culberson county, Texas, following a raid on the Dick Love ranch yesterday. Orozco and four companions were pursued from the Sierra Blanca country into the foothills. The last of the band died at dusk.

How desperately they fought was shown by four bullet wounds in the body positively identified, according to reports, as that of the Huerta general.

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 1.—The killing of General Pascual Orozco, hero of the Madero revolution of Mexico, was highly dramatic, according to details received here. The Mexican raider and his men were surrounded in their camp in a canyon between Eagle and Lonesome mountains, a posse of twenty-four mounted troops of the Thirtieth cavalry and custom house officials, having followed them.

After having followed the trail of the Mexicans, the posse found the men behind their horses, which had been hobbled. The members of the posse closed in and a pitched battle followed. All of the Mexicans were killed.

It is believed that Orozco was trying to organize dissatisfaction among all factions of Mexicans and invade the border states.

MERCHANT VESSELS

VON BERNSTORFF ANNOUNCES CONCESSIONS TO UNITED STATES.

IS CONSIDERED GREAT VICTORY FOR AMERICA

Modification of Under-Sea Warfare Follows Long Diplomatic Argument—Cable Case Closed.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The Germany aeroplane principle is the American interpretation of the rules under which her submarines may operate.

German Ambassador Von Bernstorff so inferred to Secretary of State Lansing today that only a matter of reducing the formal agreement to writing remains. Von Bernstorff arrived from New York and immediately visited Secretary Lansing.

He remained but a few minutes, and on leaving considered the submarine issue as a closed incident. He is said to have been directed by his government to notify the United States that hereafter no merchant vessel will be attacked without being warned.

They also will be visited and searched and passengers and crew will be given an opportunity to escape, he said. The details relative to payment of indemnities and the disavowal of the Arabic case were not taken up today but will be discussed later.

It is considered the greatest diplomatic victory of the war for the United States.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Secretary Lansing had asked Ambassador Von Bernstorff to put the assurance in writing that liners will not be sunk without warning. Later Lansing received a letter from Von Bernstorff saying that liners would not be sunk without warning and giving the people time to leave the ship, unless the ship tried to escape or offered resistance. Lansing immediately communicated all of the details to the president.

Announcement.

We are authorized to announce Robert I. Young of Buchanan county, as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Fourth district subject to the primary election to be held August 8, 1916.

It ought to be easy for a motorcycle man to pop-pop the question.

The wet season hasn't diminished the crop of Republican presidential candidates in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Since Paris is not now in a position to dictate fashions extensively, maybe the ladies can wear what they want to for awhile.

Some friends are like flies. They gather around the sweets in the sunshine of prosperity, but migrate when the bleak days come.

Unless Santa Claus can get the matter straightened out, it looks like we would have to worry through Christmas without the familiar German toys.

Perhaps Mr. Bryan is right. If a man has to be kissed by the admiring voters to whom he talks, the right of suffrage should be extended to the ladies.

If you don't believe in stimulants, don't eat too much meat. Meat is a stimulant and a good steak will boost you up like a cocktail. If too much is eaten it tends to cause nervous irritability and to make men mentally inert and stupid. Cooked meat, say scientists, is not easily digested, and when too much is eaten the blood stream is poisoned by the decomposing animal food in the alimentary canal.

Therefore, eat only enough to spur the mind and not to deaden it. In other words, be temperate.

any enlargement of the army or navy on a big scale. The navy is very good as it is and the addition of a fleet of submarines and a few battle cruisers, all of which may be produced for the cost of one battleship, the navy will be on an excellent footing. The United States does not want a large standing army but it does need a reserve army and a national militia. It needs most of all a larger enrollment at West Point or another military training school for the training and education of officers. These things are merely defense precautions and involve no great expense.

Increased expenditures are not probable under the present conditions of the United States treasury. The lack of imports from the countries at war have so reduced the receipts from tariff duties that it is likely that increased temporary taxes may be levied. It is not wise to temper with the tariff law. The Underwood law was scientifically constructed to meet normal conditions and there is every reason to believe that it will meet every promise made for it when normal conditions are resumed. In the meantime, it is probable that the scope of the income tax may be increased and that a higher tax may be levied upon beer and whiskey. During the last congress there was a strong movement to levy tax on gasoline and this may be done at the next session.

But, unless we are on the very threshold of war, the big navy and big army men are doomed to disappointment already. The United States wants adequate protection and no more.

HORSES SHOW WELL

MANY SAW FIRST DISPLAY OF THOROUGHBREDS AT FAIR.

APPLAUD TRICK EQUINE

Rooster, Owned by J. H. Tapp, Smithville, Waltzed and Fancy Stepped—Many Entered for Tonight.

It was a fine turn out at the first of the three night horse shows held last night in front of the grand stand at the county fair grounds. And it was a fine showing of fine horses that the immense audience present was enabled to view. The opinion in this regard was unanimous. Even the old horsemen, used to seeing fine displays of "hoos flesh," admitted that the showing last night was above the average for a county fair, by a long ways.

But the horse show tonight and the final one tomorrow night will be still better, the management claims, for there will be more entries, and consequently a more determined effort on the part of the horse owners, to show their steeds to the best possible advantage.

The judging is being done by William Lee of Mexico, Mo., an expert on the judging of horses.

The first class of the horses shown to the equine fans last night was in the walk, trot and canter, for which there were seven entries. The first prize went to Hutton & Everett of Smithville, who won on the fine appearance of Princess McDonald, a bay saddle mare.

The second prize went to Col. J. H. Tapp of Smithville, on Jimmy Gilmore, a 2-year-old saddle stallion. The third prize went to Colonel R. G. Munday of Lathrop, with Betty B., a registered 3-year-old saddle horse. Judge Lee said this was one of the best groups of this class he had ever seen in a county fair.

In the second class for light harness teams there were five entries. The awards were: First, Don Riley, St. Joseph, with Jean Bogle and Dan Hur; second, Mr. Chambers, Bolckow, with Jane and Grace; third, J. H. Trapp, Smithville, with Rex King and Rooster. While Mr. Tapp's horses didn't show up so well, the tricks of Rooster were very good and drew forth the generous applause of the audience. Rooster, who is a small bay horse, does all kinds of steps and latest dances.

In the third class of five-gaited saddle horses, the awards were: First, Hutton and Everett, Smithville, with Princess McDonald; second, J. H. Tapp, with Rooster McDonald; third, A. G. Harris, Pattonsburg, with Molly McDonald.

Look At This Would You? Some Boost, Eh?

So they are to have a "Fried Chicken day" at Maryville, up in Nodaway county. They are to gather there, the populace from near and far, on Wednesday, Sept. 1, in the year of our Lord 1915, and do nothing the whole day long but consume frying-pan productions of White Leghorns, and Barred Plymouth Rocks, and Buff Cochins, and Black Langshans.

Isn't that just like those Nodaway county people? Not satisfied with owning soil that yields a hundred bushels of corn to the acre, cattle that top the market everywhere, hogs that bring their weight in gold, houses so modern that it will take home-builders elsewhere a decade to catch up with the plans, highways so good that everybody owns at least one automobile, politics different from any other brand—despite having all these blessings to enjoy, we say, these Nodaway county folk are going to gild the golden pitcher by establishing a fried chicken eating record.

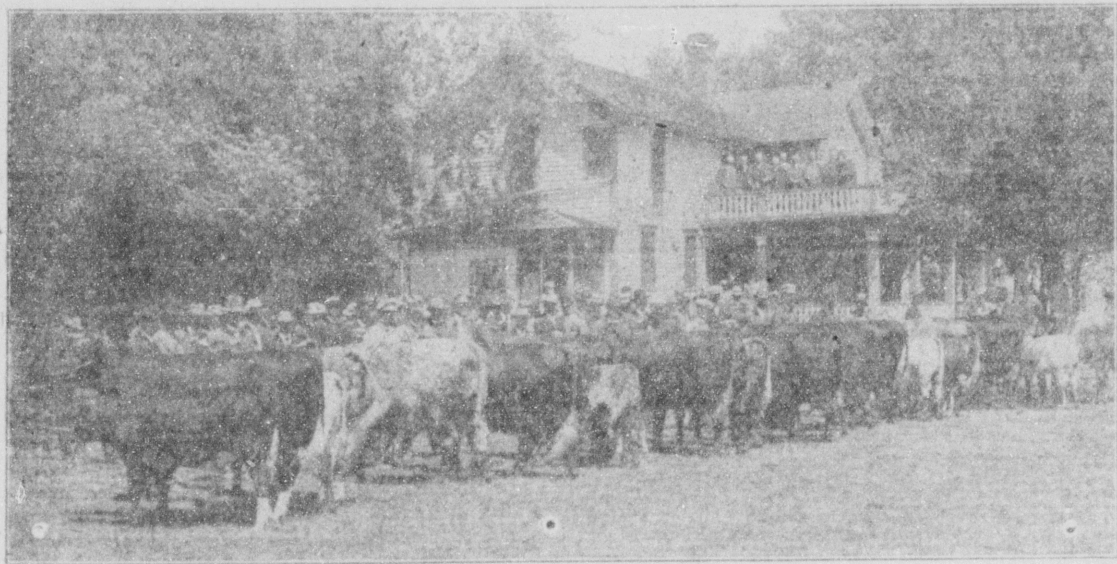

It will be a great day for drumsticks, won't it? And what a lot of wings will develop in Nodaway county on that occasion, in addition to those already well sprouted up there. And think of the gizzards, and the white, succulent breasts, and the inviting necks, and the myriad pieces of the fowl that go under the fence last which are to be dished up to the hungry and epicurean citizenship of the county!

Doubtless they will have other things to go with the fried chicken. We always notice that folk with a fondness for this kind of fowl have tastes for accompanying side dishes equally rich and high priced. There will be cream gravy, of course, and hot light biscuits, and genuine butter, and mashed potato, and three kinds of pie, and two brands of cake. Of course, too, there will be jelly to burn, and salads for anybody foolish enough to waste time eating such things when fried chicken is so much more filling, and a lot of other side dishes to fill in with between helpings from the platter.

And the wish-bones—ah, think of the wish-bone, and the fun they'll have up there in Nodaway county pulling them! And what those people wish will come true, too—they always get what they want. You know they are awfully lucky, else how could they be having a fried chicken day?—St. Joseph Gazette.

Best Definition of "Home."

At a recent meeting of the Mothers' Circle the members took for their afternoon study the reading of the seven best definitions of "Home," will be given as the prize winners in the contest started last winter by the Pictorial Review. The one winning the first prize, $250, was the Bathgate Study club (the contest was limited to women's clubs) of Bathgate, N. D., and the following is a part of the prize winning definition:

"Home is the index of civilization. Some words there are in our English speech so big with meaning, so rich in suggestion, so golden with poetry that they will not be defined. Home to each of us is too full of meaning to be limited by any statement of mere attributes. It rings with magic echoes and to our inner sense means rest, content, sympathy, love and service. Through all our years the content of the word has grown richer, through all the ages the thing itself has grown more sacred.

Long ago in the history of the race, before the institution of the family, there must have existed some temporary shelter, some familiar spot, that was rest to the primitive man, some protective nest woven by mother ingenuity for the primitive child. For home has always in its truest and best sense meant a place for the nurture and the care of the young, and the idea of home always centers about the relation of parent and child.

So homes grew up, founded on the institutions of marriage and the family and with their prime function, the rearing and education of the child. But this is not their only service. The adult needs a home to be his lodestar in the perplexities, his haven in the buffeting of modern life. Then, too, in our lopsided and imperfect lives, it, too, often comes about that there are empty homes where no children have come, desolate homes founded on curious or accidental relationships—and these, too, may be real homes.

For a true home is something other than a mere dwelling place, something further even than the habitat of a family group. Home is a beautiful atmosphere of cheer and rest and content and mutual service. To it the individual brings the best that is in him, and from it in return he receives the most unselfish joy. Here he may expand and relax, here he is most wholly himself, here he comes again to be in tune with himself and in tune with God.

For home reacts on its creators. In to its making, a man or woman, commonplace enough to outward seeming, may put an energy almost superhuman, a devotion almost sublime; this toll and sacrifice sweeten home and hallow it, and bring forth the good fruits of sound living.

The home has ever been the cradle and the chief instrument of progress. Every advance in the standard of material living and in the thought and culture of the race is germinated and reflected there. The progress or decay of a people can be measured by its home life. It is significant of the new brotherhood, the new sensitiveness to civic responsibility, that we can no longer be true to the family in the best sense without taking thought for our neighbor's safety—that we cannot live for ourselves alone.

CANNING COMPOUNDS DANGEROUS.

Housewives Warned That Use of Preserving Powders Is Harmful and Useless.

Information has come to the department of agriculture that the canning season has brought the usual demand on the part of housewives for salicylic acid and boric acid. These preparations are sometimes sold in the form of powder under various trade names and are recommended by the promoters for use in preserving canned goods in home canning.

In the directions for use the housewife is told to fill the jar with the fruit or vegetables, cover with water, and add a teaspoonful of the preserving powder. While it is true that these compounds may retard the decay of the fruit or vegetable, it is pointed out by the experts of the department that their use may be attended by serious disturbances of health.

Salicylic acid is well known as a poisonous substance, and one of the evils which may accompany its use is derangement of the digestion. It is there fore plain that its extensive use in food may lead to disturbance of digestion and health. The Federal Food and Drugs Act prohibits the use of harmful preservatives in foods that enter interstate commerce. The food law of nearly every state in the union forbids the sale with in the state of foods that have been preserved with harmful substances. Neither the federal or state food laws apply to foods that are canned in the home and consumed there.

It would seem, however, that the housewife would not knowingly use, in the foods she provides for her family, substances that she could not use in foods for sale without violating the law, because these substances are injurious to health.

Fruits and vegetables can be kept indefinitely if they are sterilized by heat and properly sealed, and there is no excuse in the opinion of the experts of the department, for running any risk by using preserving powders, which may be injurious to health. The use of such powders in addition to the possible injury to health encourages uncleanly or careless work in canning. Reliance is placed in the efficacy of the preserving compound instead of upon cleanliness and heat.

TEXTILE DISPLAY ATTRACTS

Remarkable Exhibit of Needlework Is Admired by Everyone—Is Double That of Last Year.

The most attractive spot at the county fair, not only for the women but for many of the men, is the upper floor of Floral hall, where the textile exhibits are shown. Needle work of a beauty and skill unmatched by professionals is shown and the display more than doubles in quantity that of last year.

The work shown, in many cases is of a class to call forth not only admiration, but wonder that such exquisite articles could be fashioned. The display includes every class of needlework and embroidery.

To the right of the east entrance is the display entered by the Penelope club. Many busy hours have been devoted to this work and the exhibits certainly demonstrates that a woman's embroidery club can do more than have "gab-fests" when they meet for afternoon teas.

Another attractive exhibit is that of the elderly ladies' work. In this department some of the most remarkable pieces are done by women past eighty years. Mrs. A. D. Tindall, Mrs. Mary Clinkenbeard, and Mrs. Mary Hahn, each have displayed pieces of work of the most perfect kind. Two knitted bed spreads made by Mrs. Hahn were done after she was 83 years old and she is still making pretty things.

In direct contrast to this is some extra fine tatting displayed by little Ora May Condon, the daughter of Mrs. B. E. Condon of West Second street.

Miss Ruth Davis has on display a waist, hand-made and trimmed in fine crochet, which is greatly admired by everyone for its perfect work. Miss Beattie McGittigan, living north of Maryville has perhaps the most beautiful work ever displayed by a young woman of her age. The pieces include various kinds of embroidery, crochet and lace work of the most intricate and beautiful designs.

Mrs. Charles McNeal has shown a lunch set, embroidered in blue crane designs, a beautiful piece of work, which is not entered for a special premium but only for display with the Penelope club work.

The judging is being done today, the judges in this department being Mrs. M. A. Peery, Mrs. A. A. Leet of Bedford, Mrs. L. C. Gann, Miss Bettie Turner, Mrs. J. S. Shinabargar, Mrs. Melissa Casteel, Miss Bertha Beal, Mrs. M. Nusbaum and Mrs. Will Montgomery.

SPECIAL FAVORS TO TENNESSEE CANNERS

Amendment to Child Labor Law Passed This Year.

NEED FOR A FEDERAL LAW.

An effort made in New York last winter to grant canneries special favors by permitting them to work their operatives longer hours was strongly condemned by the press throughout the country, and the attempt failed. But no attention was paid to Tennessee when she did the same thing at about the same time. In fact, the National Child Labor Committee regards the Tennessee amendment as far more serious than the New York one would have been since the change in the New York law would not have affected any children under sixteen, while the Tennessee amendment permits children under fourteen to work in canneries and for unlimited hours per day.

"It is strange how many states fail to realize that children are more valuable than fruits and vegetables," said Owen H. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, in commenting on Tennessee's action. "The idea is so common that canning goods is more important than protecting children that we find not only Tennessee, but Delaware, Maryland, Indiana, Maine and Virginia, making special exemptions to their child labor laws for the benefit of canneries, while Mississippi does not regulate them at all. I do not know why the idea should prevail that employment in canneries cannot possibly be harmful to children when the conditions there are usually worse than in factories.

"We feel that the only successful way to meet the canning situation is through the federal law which will be introduced in the next congress and which, if passed, would prohibit the shipment outside the state of canned goods which children under fourteen had helped to manufacture or on which they had worked more than eight hours a day. A letter came to us the other day from a woman who wished to know what variety of canned goods she could buy and feel sure that no children had worked on it. We could not tell her, but we did tell her that if she would help us in passing a federal law she could buy any kind of canned goods with safety."

MESSENGER SERVICE A "CRIME FACTORY."

So Lewis W. Hine Tells Child Labor Conference.

"Crime factory" is the term which an investigator for the National Child Labor Committee made use of in describing the evils of the messenger service at the Eleventh Annual Conference on Child Labor. This man, Lewis W. Hine, believes that there is not a messenger boy of any experience who does not know more about the underworld than the average citizen, because one very common phase of messenger work is the serving of prostitutes by carrying messages, running errands and procuring vice. Investigations of the night messenger service during the past five years in cities representing every section of the country

THE PRODUCT OF THE "CRIME FACTORY" have failed to reveal a single night messenger whose work had not brought him into personal contact with vice.

The chances of promotion in the messenger service were summed up by one boy as follows: "Nothing to it unless you are the right kind of guy. You can get to be a check boy or a die clerk after being in the service a year or two if you stick to it, but ordinarily nobody wants to stick. . . . There is nothing to do when we're not on calls. You can go into the office and sit down and loaf, or you can go outside and stand up and loaf. In our office the manager never cared what became of you as long as you were within calling distance."

The attitude of other employers toward the boy who has worked as a messenger was brought out last winter by Miss Anne Davis of Chicago at a hearing on the proposed Illinois child labor law, which included a twenty-one year limit for night messengers. "Employers tell me," said Miss Davis, "they always specify that a boy shall not have worked as a messenger when they employ him."

500 CHILDREN TO WAIT ON YOU

Much That You Wear and Eat Passes Through Their Hands.

EXHIBIT VISITOR IS AMAZED.

"Why should I be interested in the working child?" asked a self-complacent lady who called at the child labor exhibit in San Francisco the other day.

"Because it touches you at so many points," replied the National Child Labor Committee's exhibit director, Lewis W. Hine. "To begin with, the flowers on your hat were undoubtedly made in a New York tenement, no matter what you paid for them. I have found four-year-old children working on such flowers.

"The 'real' imported Irish point lace you have on your collar was probably made by Italians on the east side of

New York. Your gloves and the buttons on your dress probably passed through the hands of children. The scalloped edge around your underwear was made by children in New England village houses, and your stockings represent the labor of children from eight years of age up.

"The cotton that goes into the cloth you use may have been picked by children of five or six and was handled by innumerable children in the course of manufacture. A spool of cotton thread represents the work of from five to twenty-five children.

"As you pass on to the market to buy your food a small boy waits on you. He represents not only your local child labor problem, but indirectly the problem of the little girl who picked your cranberries and your strawberries. Even the baskets that the berries come in represent the work of children. The oysters that you have sent home from the shop were very likely dredged by boys from eight to ten up to young manhood. Some were shucked by little ones of seven or eight. The scallops you eat may have been imported or they may have come from the coast of Maine, where children do much of the cutting and canning. Canned peas represent child labor in sorting, picking and canning."

"The coal you burn at home and the glassware you use probably passed through the hands of children. The drugs delivered to you are often brought by a boy who may have come to your house direct from the red light district. The little newsboy, the 'shines' boys, the boy who sets up pins in the bowling alley and the young usher at the movie all need your protection."

The lady gasped and begged Mr. Hine to stop. "Well," he said, "if I went into it EXHAUSTIVELY I think I could find that about 500 children had contributed to your comfort in one way or another."

GIVE NICKNAMES TO BOMBS.

Alias Have the "Flarebomb" and the "Cricket Ball."

London.—The various kinds of bombs now used in France and Flanders are described by an English officer in a letter from the front. There are, he says, four main types: the "hair-bombs," the "cricket ball," the "police-man's club" and the "jam tin." Bomb throwers are known in trench slang as "man-bits."

"The hair-bomb," explains the writer, "is very like the ordinary hair-brush, except that the bristles are replaced by a solid block of high explosive. The policeman's truncheon has ray streamers of tape tied to its tail to insure that it falls to the ground nose downward. Both these bombs explode on impact, and it is inadvisable to knock them against anything—say the bark of the trunk—when throwing them."

"The cricket ball works by a time fuse. The removal of a certain pin releases a spring, which lights an internal fuse (timed to explode the bomb in five seconds). You take the bomb in your right hand, remove the pin and cast the thing mindly from you. The jam tin variety appeals more particularly to the sportsman, as the element of chance enters largely into its successful use. It is timed to explode about ten seconds after the lighting of the fuse. It is, therefore, unwise to throw it too soon, as there would be ample time for your opponent to pick it up and throw it back. On the other hand, it is unwise to hold on too long, as the fuse is uncertain in its action and is given to short cuts."
